Children who study music from an early age can do better at a range of subjects such as maths, science, arts and language. They also learn that there are rewards from hard work, practice, and discipline.

- Dr Richard Letts, Music Council of Australia
Performing Arts lessons are offered by the college for students from Prep to Year 12. The program provides opportunity for students to develop their musical ability and appreciation as well as performance creativity.

Aims
